What Interface is right for me?

Agile Business Intelligence for CXOs

Michelle is a Chief Financial Officer at Primatch, a leading software company. In her role, Michelle manages the company’s financial analysis, tax, investor relations and audits. She also plays a key role in the operations side of the business.

Michelle faces a number of challenges which she would like to address:

- Inability to quickly access the key financial highlights she needs to make informed decisions.
- Drowning in a sea of spreadsheets and custom reports trying to get answers.
- Ensuring the financial information she supplies to internal and external stakeholders, is consistent and correct.
- Accurately forecasting future opportunities and risks.

The Solution: Logix Agile Dashboards

Using Logix Agile Dashboards, Michelle can now display the KPIs and metrics that are of most interest to her and her team. There is no longer a need for extensive reporting and spreadsheets - new insights can be found instantly, allowing Michelle to focus on the strategic activities that really matter.

In minutes, new dashboards can be created by simply deciding which views need to be added. If there is an issue which needs attention, the drill down feature can help determine the root cause and eliminate risks before they happen.

Primatch now have multiple, customised dashboards so each manager can see the exact information they need. They can also highlight important areas for fast decisions and share this securely to selected people across the organisation.

About Nathean Technologies

We are passionate about Agile Business Intelligence and have been delivering innovative data analysis and reporting solutions to customers since 2001. We want people to make better business decisions by getting access to their own data with little or no training. We are focused on simplicity, enabling users at every level in an organisation – irrespective of ability – to easily ask questions of data and get the answers they need in an instant.
